Career Readiness – Why This is Not Just For Clients: Shifting Our Focus Back to “Us”

As professionals, how do we shift from being productivity-centric to deeper levels of being craft-centric? What are those small steps that can have a big impact on our futures, and the futures we are helping to build? This thought provoking presentation will share old ideas from a new perspective, as well as provide practical tools to get audience members to think first about “us,” and moving toward deliberate practice for “them.”
